MISSION

Female entrepreneurs are different.

They're the ones that will get up, day or night, and do what's needed for their independence.

The ones who do what it takes, no matter what, to create what others only dream of - so they can most powerfully impact families, communities, and self-health.

Findings from the Global Entrepreneurship Monitor report 2020/21 show an estimated 274 million women globally are involved in business start-ups while an additional 139 million women are owners of established businesses..!

That's 413 million women currently identifying as entrepreneurs at various stages of business.

Despite the numbers, there's never been a world record attempt representing them.

Stacey is changing that with the first ever digital world record attempt for female entrepreneurs. Taking place virtually on May 22, 2022.
